THE MICHIGAN 2030 FOOD WASTE COALITION

MI 2030 FOOD WASTE COALITION

"Inspiring new leaders in food waste management across the state."

Who We Are

The Michigan 2030 Food Waste Coalition is an all-volunteer group of more than 300 industry experts and professionals, state environmental representatives, researchers, nonprofit leaders, concerned citizens, elected officials, municipal staff, and others working together to meet Michigan's goal of reducing food waste by 50% by 2030.

We are working to bring Michigan together around a shared vision for reducing food waste. By connecting people and resources across the state, the Coalition helps move Michigan from individual efforts toward coordinated, systemic change.

What We Do

The Coalition brings together resources, knowledge, experience, and perspectives from across the food system to advance practical solutions to food waste.

- Preventing food waste
- Rescuing and up-cycling food
- Food waste digestion
- Composting and organics management
- Planning and implementation
- County materials management plans
- Policy exploration and research

Collaboration In Action

The Coalition creates opportunities for members to learn from one another, share resources, explore solutions, and connect policy with implementation. Varied topics in food waste management such as policy, food rescue and distribution, and waste processing technologies are discussed. Meetings, held quarterly around the state, typically showcase a food waste solution in practice, from farm to table and back to soil.

JOIN THE EFFORT

Join us in meeting the State's goal of reducing food waste and creating healthier, more resilient communities throughout Michigan.
